

Miller Toasted
and Roasted at Writers' Frolic

Stunts at Annual Banquet
of Albany Correspondents
Center on Governor and Value of Onondaga "Pull"

Appointees Lampooned
Executive and Big Gathering of Officials Smilingly Endure Night of "Joshing"

ALBANY, March 16.—The supremacy of Onondaga County in state politics and government was proclaimed and celebrated in song and stunt by the "Writers' Frolic" Association of New York State here to-night.

The occasion was the annual association dinner. Present at the merry-making was virtually every figure of the state party affairs, including Governor Miller and his official family.

The executive, state department, legislative, political chiefs and friends to the number of 450 saw themselves "see others" see them."

Outstanding events of the session of 1922, as well as predictions for 1923 were set forth in friendly satire.

The burlesque was presented under the title of "An Unconventional Convention," the dinner opening with a burlesque travesty on a gathering of the Republican club at Saratoga.

The "convention" of Onondaga was featured. Color was lent to this theme by song and stunt which followed. Even the cover of the Onondaga carried out its theme.

It pictured the "G. P." state stables, with Governor Miller as a meek horse about to enter the Saratoga "stables." The horse was then "driven" by the "G. P." state stables, with Governor Miller as a meek horse about to enter the Saratoga "stables."

The burlesque was presented under the title of "An Unconventional Convention," the dinner opening with a burlesque travesty on a gathering of the Republican club at Saratoga.

The burlesque was presented under the title of "An Unconventional Convention," the dinner opening with a burlesque travesty on a gathering of the Republican club at Saratoga.

The burlesque was presented under the title of "An Unconventional Convention," the dinner opening with a burlesque travesty on a gathering of the Republican club at Saratoga.

Artist Who Will Aid Hero Fund

Miss Helen Ware, a gifted violinist, will appear at a benefit performance Sunday at the Vanderbilt Theater. The proceeds will go to the widows and children of policemen slain on duty.

Friendly job at the presentation last winter to Majority Leader Clayton R. Lusk of the Senate of a chest of silver. Then the "delegates" were allowed to gaze on a scene disclosing former Governor Alfred E. Smith sitting for his portrait. The colloquy between artist and Smith closed with these lines:

Artist—Governor Miller says he is going to travel your picture himself in the executive chamber.

Mr. Smith—Fair enough. I'll do the same for him next year.

Governor Miller was the only speaker. In accordance with the traditions of the Legislative Correspondents' Association the speech was not reported.

Fatima Balks at Sailing Without Her Diamond

Sheriff Has Sultan's Big 'Rock' for Debts and British Consul Washes Hands of Her

The steamship City of Lahore sailed yesterday for Calcutta with an empty suite of rooms that had been engaged by the British Consulate for the Princess Fatima, Sultan of Afghanistan, and her sons.

At the last moment and Captain Gloster Armstrong, the British Consul General, figuratively washed his hands of her and her affairs.

Fatima is desirous of returning to the Orient, but she said yesterday that she could not overcome a desire to remain in the neighborhood of her daughter, a flat diamond worth $100,000, which is reposing in the care of the Sheriff pending the payment of debts contracted by its owner during her stay in America.

Her Highness, it was said, could easily satisfy her financial obligations and pay the customs and valorem duty of 20 per cent upon the stone by selling it at the market value, but she said yesterday she wished to keep the great gem which once adorned the throne of Alexander the Great.

A quintet of New York City detectives in blue uniforms prospected a

Jersey Assembly
Overrides Edwards
On Budget Officer

Prohibition Enforcement and State Highway Bonds of $40,000,000 Are Passed;
League Attorney in Tilt

TRENTON, N. J., March 16.—Passage of bills over the veto of Governor Edwards by the House and Senate and a lively tilt in the House between Assemblyman Corio, of Atlantic City, and G. Rowland Munro, attorney of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, occupied the attention of the Legislature to-day.

Adjournment was taken early this evening until 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, when enactment of laws over the veto will be completed and sine die adjournment of the 1922 session taken.

Before the session closes Governor Edwards will send to the Senate appointments which have been hanging fire for weeks. A number of appointments were confirmed to-day, including J. T. Autenrieth, of Jersey City, as a member of the Public Utilities Commission, to succeed Thomas J. Treacy, resigned; Charles Seabrook, of Bridgeport, as a member of the State Highway Commission, and John Dredano, of Barneget, as a member of the State Pilotage Commission.

The House to-day passed the House bills that were vetoed and the Senate acted in like manner upon the Senate bills. To-morrow the House will pass the Senate bills and the Senate will act on the House bills, completing them as laws.

In the House the Hobart prohibition enforcement, the bridge and tunnel commission reorganization and the $40,000,000 highway bond bills were put through.

In the Senate the excess crew legislation was passed over the veto. The bill of Senator Whitely creating a permanent state budget officer was beaten following the veto.

The State-up in the House between Assemblyman Corio and Mr. Munro was over the deciding vote on an Anti-Saloon League bill requiring that curtains and screens be removed from windows and doors of places used for pool and billiard parlors and places where beverages are sold. One vote was lacking to put this measure over the Governor's veto.

Corio charged Munro with having purchased a member of the House while the roll was being called. He shook his finger in Munro's face and moved to have him removed from the floor of the House.

House Passes Measure Admitting 2,400 Aliens

Resolution Allowing Excess Over 3 Per Cent Quotas Attacked; Goes to Senate

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The House to-day passed a resolution under which approximately 2,400 aliens admitted temporarily to the United States prior to March 1 in excess of the three per cent quotas of the restrictive immigration law would be permitted to remain in this country permanently.

The measure now goes to the Senate. Representative Baker, of California, Democratic member of the Immigration Committee, denounced the resolution as "damnable legislation," framed in the interest of steamship companies, who, he said, would have to spend $500,000 in returning the aliens deported to Europe in case Congress did not pass the pending measure.

Representative Johnson, urging passage of the resolution, said it would grant relief in certain cases which had arisen in the operation of a "new and untried plan" for the restriction of immigration.

The Senate Immigration Committee to-day began work on the House bill to extend for another year the three per cent immigration quota law, but deferred action for a few days to secure additional information from the Department of Labor.

The committee postponed a vote on the bill of Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia, to prohibit all immigration for five years and on the bill of Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, to make permanent all temporary excess quota immigrants.

Suit Makers to Take Stand
Shop Heads to Discuss Federal Inquiry To-morrow

Shop chairmen of the cloak, suit and skirt makers' branches of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union will meet to-morrow afternoon in Cooper Union to discuss the three-cornered controversy which has arisen among the union, the manufacturers and the Secretary of Labor.

The action of the union in raising a $1,000,000 defense fund "to prepare for contingencies in June, when the present agreement with the manufacturers will expire," also will be discussed. Mr. Schlesinger said. Members of the union are contributing $50 each in raising the fund.

Patrolmen Oppose Promotion Bills as Civil Service Blow

Association Calls Measures That Permit Advancement Without an Examination a Violation of Principle

This several bills before the Legislature providing for permanent positions, involving promotion without civil service examination, for members of the police force are denounced as violations of the principle of the civil service law by officials of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association in a statement made yesterday. The association is opposing the measure.

"The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association is not in sympathy with any bill that would violate the principle of the civil service law," officials said yesterday. "Assemblymen who introduced the bill, call the bill introduced by Senator Simpson, and which has passed the Senate, indicates by terms of service certain officers who would receive promotion without the necessity of being next on the eligible list. The list, which is now before the Rules Committee of the Assembly, has been pronounced as dangerous as the Jesse bill, and for the same reasons."

"The Jesse bill, which would make the arms expert of the department a lieutenant without requiring him to pass the lieutenant's examination, is opposed on the same grounds, and the association officers believe it is not likely to pass."

"The bill which would make police telephone operators permanent in their details and give them the title of 'transmission operators,' has been advanced to third reading in the Senate. A committee of operators is in Albany urging the passage of this measure, which is also opposed by the association as violating the principles of the civil service act."

Man, Wife and Child Die
In Beds From Asphyxiation

Benjamin Bernoff and his wife, Sarah, both thirty-five years old, and their son, William, eleven years old, of 343 Keap Street, Brooklyn, were found dead in their beds yesterday from asphyxiation. They had gone to sleep with the windows closed and with a gas radiator going at full heat. Death was caused by carbon monoxide gas after the oxygen in the room had been burned out.

Leiter Insists His Home Is in Illinois
When Sued Here

Former Wheat Plunger Says
N. Y. Is Not Residence, and Claims Time Limit
in $680,000 Litigation

Joseph Leiter, of Chicago and Washington, formerly one of the greatest plungers of the wheat pit, was in the Supreme Court yesterday to prove that Joseph H. Hoadley and Alfred H. Hoadley, who have sued him for $680,000, should not have brought their two actions in New York. The suits are over a note of $100,000 and over the flotation of stock issues of corporations in which the parties to the cases were interested.

Joseph H. Hoadley was promoter of the International Power Company. It is the contention of Mr. Leiter that he was not a resident of New York during the time when the alleged indebtedness was incurred, and also that, through the operation of the statute of limitations in Illinois, which Mr. Leiter says was his residence, the obligations have expired.

Mr. Leiter testified that he always voted and paid taxes in Illinois and regarded that state as his legal residence.

George Z. Medallie, counsel for the Hoadleys, sought to prove that Mr. Leiter was a resident of New York. "In 1909 young Joseph Leiter thought himself the greatest financial genius the world had produced," said Mr. Medallie, "and to prove that he was he started out to corner all the wheat the world could produce. One result which might have been expected was that Illinois became an unpleasant place to live in 365 days in the year. The Leiter family, including a fine home in Washington, where they began to build up a social prestige in national capital circles. Joseph Leiter himself came to New York and here he rented apartments. Mind you, this was his first own home of men home of his own. In Chicago he had lived as one of his parents' family."

"In the matter of economy, when Joseph Leiter asserted that Illinois was his residence state, that was the cheapest thing for him to do. But after that wheat cornering project smashed his biggest business deals were in New York. It was here that he lived when, on October 2, 1902, he gave a note for $100,000 to Joseph H. Hoadley."

The case will be continued to-day.

Seizure of Brewery Here Is Part of Nation-wide Campaign

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Seizure of the Central Brewery in New York by prohibition officers was said to-day by Commissioner Haynes to be a part of an intensive campaign being carried on throughout the country against the manufacture of beer containing alcohol in excess of the legal limit.

Begun in Pittsburgh several months ago, the campaign, Mr. Haynes being present, where the illegal manufacture of beer is suspected.

Not for the Rich Alone

For many years mortgages were the investment of the rich. They were supposed to be held by hard-hearted money lenders who longed for the chance to foreclose.

This may have been true in the days when the mortgage investor had to know real estate values and had to watch his own investment.

Today, any one can be a mortgage investor with absolute safety and comfort.

We furnish you with Mortgages and Mortgage Certificates in amounts of $200 up. You have all the comfort and safety of a mortgage investment, and the guarantee of the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company covers all the risk.

The interest is 5 1/2%. Can you do better and have absolute safety?

Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Co.
Capital and Surplus $12,000,000
176 Broadway, New York. 175 Remsen St., Brooklyn.

his residence state, that was the cheapest thing for him to do. But after that wheat cornering project smashed his biggest business deals were in New York. It was here that he lived when, on October 2, 1902, he gave a note for $100,000 to Joseph H. Hoadley."

Franklin Simon & Co.
A Store of Individual Shops
FIFTH AVENUE, 37th and 38th STS.

For Mademoiselle (14 to 20 yrs.)

THE PROM-GIRL BLOUSE

Replication Applied for

HAND MADE OF IMPORTED WHITE DIMITY

A button-up-the-back model with round hand fag-gotet Bramley collar and cuffs.

5.00

The blouse which by its air of simple smartness stands out above all others as most characteristic of the youth of today and the perfect comrade of the new suits.

Two models—every stitch hand made—both of white dimity with hand fag-gotet collar and cuffs—and one with edging of hand made Irish lace picot

FEMININE BLOUSE SHOP—Third Floor

Lawyers Title and Trust Company

100 Broadway, New York
100 Broadway, New York
100 Broadway, New York
100 Broadway, New York
100 Broadway, New York

Franklin Simon & Co.
A Store of Individual Shops
FIFTH AVENUE, 37th and 38th STS.

For Mademoiselle (14 to 20 yrs.)

THE VOGUE OF THE
THREE-PIECE SUIT
LEADS ALL OTHERS

and combines with the French vogue for navy blue

59.50

The three-piece suit stands alone as the newest, most original and most wearable fashion, not only of this year but of the last twenty years.

The sleeveless coat model with attached scarf
The silk crepe bodice model
The embroidered model
The braided model

OTHER THREE-PIECE SUITS
58.00 to 195.00

Misses' SUIT SHOP—Second Floor

Way Back Before The Civil War

-Gail Borden pioneered the cause of pure milk. Borden's Grade A milk is the outcome of this early effort, with every modern improvement added.

BORDEN'S
Farm Products Co., Inc.
Corlandt 7961.

PLAZA ART AUCTION ROOMS
EDWARD P. O'REILLY, AUCTIONEER
140 EAST 59th STREET (AT 3rd AVE.)
TO-DAY AT 2 P. M.
Administrators' Sale of Estate of Mrs. FRANCIS SCHROEDER
By order of J. Landon Schroeder, Esq.
Removed from 20 E. 66th St.
Also Magnificent Furnishings
By order of C. F. STROEYER, Esq., of this city
Including a collection of fine Italian Porcelain, Hangings and Ceramics
Also a collection of fine Italian Porcelain, Hangings and Ceramics
With Additional Properties of Others
Bedroom, Dining and Living Room
Furniture, French, English, Italian, Dutch, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, etc.
Also a collection of fine Italian Porcelain, Hangings and Ceramics
SALES TO-DAY AND SAT.
MARCH 17-18

SALE THIS AFTERNOON AT 2:30
AT THE ANDERSON GALLERIES
THE KEVORKIAN COLLECTION

B. Altman & Co.

For to-day (Friday)

A Special Sale of

Men's Oxfords & High Shoes

at $7.50 per pair

The assortment consists of several smart models in tan and black calfskin with medium and wide toes, and a brogue model in black and tan Norwegian grain leather

These Shoes have heretofore been in the regular stock at much higher prices

(Sixth Floor)

Madison Avenue-Fifth Avenue, New York
Thirty-fourth Street Thirty-fifth Street